County Board Draws School Resolution

A resolution covering all commitments made and implied in connection with recent Citizens Committee court action is being prepared by County Superintendent W. J. Hilty following a regular meeting of the Fayette County Board of Education Saturday afternoon.

Supt. Hilty, who is clerk of the board, said the resolution was the first item of business on the board's agenda at the meeting, the first since the conclusion of the Citizens Committee litigation.

The statement, the superintendent said, will encompass all agreements determined in conference and stated by the judge in open court, including a county board recommendation to the Citizens Committee for an objective survey of school problems.

Supt. Hilty said that he is working on a draft of the board resolution, a copy of which will be forwarded to the nine-member Citizens Committee which held its organization meeting last Friday night.

Besides board members, others attending Saturday's meeting were Ray French, Grove Davis J. H. McWilliams and R. H. Stoddard.

Capital Punishment End Sought

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two representatives today drafted for the Legislature a bill to end capital punishment in Ohio.

Statute now requires the death penalty on conviction of first degree murder unless a jury recommends mercy. A mercy recommendation requires a life sentence.

Similar measures failed to win enactment in recent sessions of the Legislature.

French Premier Arrives for Ike Conference

Mollet Insists No Rift Exists Between His Nation and America

NEW YORK (AP)—French Premier Guy Mollet, in the United States for urgent talks with President Eisenhower on the tense Middle East crisis, wishes to make it "quite clear to the world that friendship between the United States and France is still alive."

He declined to comment on France's opposition to proposed sanctions by the United Nations against Israel in connection with the Gaza and Aqaba disputes.

Mollet did say, however, that he was "hopeful" that a satisfactory solution would be reached in the Middle East problem.

Mollet's trip originally was planned to patch up French-American differences growing out of the French-British invasion of Egypt. It is to be followed shortly by a conference between Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, all billed as the start of a final reconciliation of the Western Big Three.

Eisenhower's insistence, however, on the unconditional withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Gaza Strip and Aqaba touched off a new row and Mollet hastened to the United States as the split between America and its European allies widened.

BOTH BRITAIN and France are opposed to sanctions.

Mollet told newsmen he could not make any statement on the Middle East problem until after he conferred with President Eisenhower in Washington. This conference is scheduled for Tuesday.

Israel has asked Mollet and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau to plead its case with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. It was reported earlier in Paris that, within the limits of protocol, Mollet will explain what he considers points in Israel's favor as well as outlining France's views.

Nonetheless, the opinion was expressed in Paris that Mollet will try not to let the problem of Israel overshadow the talks completely. Among the most important problems to be discussed with Eisenhower is that of the weakening French economy, threatened by a crisis through a drastic drain on foreign exchange.

The French premier said he would stress the following points in his talks with Eisenhower:

"To build Europe, to link it closely to Africa, to keep peace alive, and last, but not least, I intend to state emphatically to President Eisenhower, as well as to you, that our country has been for nearly two centuries your faithful ally and does not intend, rain or shine, to change its mind or its heart."

Mollet said he also wished to stress "the strength of the links that bind us for the sake of peace and international justice" and then added:

"Peace without justice is a crime. We cannot live in a world where, in the name of peace, dictatorships keep in slavery, under some kind of blackmail, innocent and law-abiding nations."

3 Ambassadors Named by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Amory Houghton, board chairman of the Corning Glassworks, to be ambassador to France.

The President also nominated David K. E. Bruce, to be ambassador to West Germany, and William J. Sebald, a career diplomat, to be ambassador to Australia.

Putnam Countian Killed in Crash

OTTAWA (AP)—Mrs. Elma Halker, 45, on her way to work with five other persons, was killed today when the car in which she was riding collided with a parked truck on Ohio 65 south of here.

Another passenger, Mrs. Lydia Hamilton, 43, was admitted to Lima St. Rita's Hospital with an arm injury. Suffering bruises were Mrs. Iris Haas, 38, and Mrs. Mallie Winkle and the driver, Charles Kimmitt, all of Putnam County.

U. S., Israel Seen Nearing Accord on Withdrawal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Israel appeared close to agreement today on a formula for an Israeli troop withdrawal without sanctions, but the big question was whether Egypt would go along.

United Nations action also would be necessary for some of the points Secretary of State Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban discussed during a three-hour meeting Sunday.

In their discussions, the two men divided the problem up into United States and United Nations aspects, then issued a joint statement which spoke hopefully of prospects for solution of both. The statement said Eban was reporting Dulles' remarks to Jerusalem immediately and was remaining "in close touch" with the State Department.

Eban was expected to confer on U. N. angles today with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in New York.

Dulles met with Eban after the ambassador flew back to Washington with new instructions given him at Jerusalem by Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Officials indicated the United States would continue its silence in the U. N. on the question of imposing U. N. sanctions against Israel to force Israeli troops withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Egypt, which claims the right to both areas seized by Israel last October, has been demanding Israel's withdrawal and has been backed by U. N. resolutions.

A joint communique put out Sunday night by Dulles and Eban reported that Eban presented Israel's views, Dulles "clarified certain points" about the United States "attitude and intent," and they agreed to talk some more.

The communique emphasized the U. S. memorandum to Israel of last Feb. 11. Officials said this memo represented the latest U. S. position. They indicated that Dulles and Eban were in accord on this division of the problem:

1. Gulf of Aqaba—Could be worked out in talks between Israel and the United States. Dulles had offered support for free access and Israel called for stronger guarantees. Both agreed U. N. forces should occupy Sharm el Sheikh, the gun position overlooking the mouth of the gulf, whenever Israeli troops withdraw from it. But there was a feeling Israel might settle for Dulles' assurance if the Gaza question could be settled to its liking.

2. Gaza Strip—A U. N. problem. Dulles emphasized in his Feb. 11 memo to Eban that only the parties to the Palestine truce could change it, and that left out the United States. The truce gave Egypt the right to administer Gaza.

Ben-Gurion said in a speech last Thursday that Israel never will agree to giving Gaza back to Egypt. He is known to be trying to get some sort of de facto U. N. control which would leave Israeli civil administration in Gaza. He has offered to make a substantial start on rehabilitating the 200,000 refugees there. This is the proposal Eban was expected to lay before Hammarskjöld.

Calling on public authorities to regulate the sale and use of tranquilizing drugs, he said that a person who uses them improperly "cannot complete his daily work if he remains continually submerged in a twilight state."

Regarding anesthesia, the pope said that "the doctor who accepts its methods enters into contradiction neither with the natural moral order nor with the specifically Christian ideal. He is seeking, in accordance with the ordinance of the Creator, to bring suffering under men's control."

The pope then took up the question of whether it is morally right to use drugs to reduce pain, on medical advice, when the life of the patient probably would be shortened by doing so:

"One must answer: 'Yes—provided no other means exist and if, in the given circumstances, that action does not prevent the carrying out of other moral and religious duties.'"

"Nevertheless," he continued, "that does not mean that it is an indispensable part of it; in major operations especially it is not unusual for anesthetics to be essential for other reasons, and the surgeon or the patient could not omit them without a lack of Christian prudence."

Weekend Accidents

COLUMBUS (AP)—Seven persons died accidentally in Ohio during the weekend, six of them in traffic mishaps.

An Associated Press survey, which began Friday at 6 p. m. and ended Sunday at midnight, showed another fatality was a man who died of injuries suffered when he fell on basement stairs in his home.

Warm moisture-laden air from the Gulf of Mexico spread into the Midwest and brought relatively mild temperatures to the rest of the nation.

Continued rain was in prospect for the West Coast today, but without the furious winds.

The gale blasted parts of Washington state Sunday with gusts up to 158 miles an hour. The thawing wind melted snow on the slopes along the Powder River in eastern Oregon and about 40 homes in Baker were flooded.

Townfolk and National Guardsmen battled the river with sandbags to protect the rest of Baker, a community of 9,500.

In southeastern Oregon the Mal-

hour River was expected to crest today after flooding parts of Vale and surrounding areas. Sheriff John Elvering said the community was "virtually isolated" with 18 inches of water over U. S. Highway 20-26 between Vale and Ontario. Schools were closed.

In northern California, a 600-foot stretch of U. S. Highway 101, the main north-south artery, was blocked by a mudslide from 8 to 10 feet deep. More than 500 motorists were stranded at Willits.

A terrific gust felled a 135-foot fir tree near Grants Pass, Ore., and killed two foresters. A woman killed in Monterey, Calif., by a falling pine tree.

The torrential rains posed a minor flood threat to the Russian River resort area about 55 miles north of San Francisco.

As far south as Los Angeles, a quick downpour flooded lowlands for a brief period Saturday.

Known Dead Set at 9 in C124 Crash

SEOUL (AP)—Search crews today found four more bodies in the twisted wreckage of a U. S. Air Force Globemaster that crashed and burned Friday night on a Han River sandbar. This raised the list of known dead to 9, leaving 13 others still missing.

The big C124 transport was en route to Japan with 159 Americans aboard—10 Air Force crewmen, 147 Army men and 2 Army civilian employees. Most were on leave. Twenty-eight of the 137 survivors accounted for are still hospitalized.

A spokesman for a 10-man Air Force investigation team said three of the bodies just recovered were those of Army personnel and the other was a crewman. They were taken to the mortuary section of the 121st Evacuation Hospital at Ascom City.

Army and Air Force officials said the search was continuing for the missing. Many officers said privately they had little hope any of them would be found alive.

LI. Bennet S. Levin of Muscatine, Iowa, a survivor, indicated some of the victims may have been trapped when the upper deck of the plane collapsed onto the lower deck. He was freed from this position when someone noticed him struggling.

NEGOTIATORS worked around the clock as Portsmouth telephone were silenced by a new wave of vandalism that resulted in more slashed cables and knocked out the last of the 17,000 phones in the area.

Gov. C. William O'Neill has asked Portsmouth's mayor, city manager and chief of police; city officials of suburban New Boston; and the prosecuting attorney and sheriff of Scioto County to meet with him today.

Contract Due To Be Signed On Wednesday

Negotiators Reach Accord, Ending Long, Bitter Labor Dispute

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Members of the Communications Workers of America were to start meeting today for a ratification vote on a new contract ending their 226-day strike against the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

A majority of the 600 CWA members must give approval to the new contract along with a "back-to-work" agreement.

J. Curtis Fletcher, CWA national director, said only a few locals would meet today; most of them have scheduled meetings for Tuesday.

Fletcher said the union's negotiating committee will recommend that the contract agreement be ratified. The contract is scheduled to be formally signed Wednesday by the company and the union.

Just what the terms of the new contract are, neither side was willing to say. A company spokesman said there would be no public release of the terms until the contract has been ratified and signed.

RETENTION of a union shop clause was regarded as the key issue blocking settlement of the bitter dispute. The old one-year contract that expired last July 15 contained the clause. The union insisted that it be retained in the contract, but the company countered with an offer of a maintenance of membership clause.

Company opposition to the union shop clause arose after Ohio Consolidated had been absorbed by General Telephone Co. The latter, now the world's second largest telephone combine, reportedly felt that if it granted the union shop clause in this case, it would be plagued by the same issue when its other contracts came up for negotiation.

A union shop clause requires that all non-supervisory employees join a union. Under a maintenance of membership clause union membership is not required but an employee must remain in the union if he once joins.

The union shop theory is not to be confused with the "closed shop" idea. In the former, an employee need not be a union member when hired, but must join the union after a specified period of time. In the closed shop field, only union members may be hired.

Fifteen other issues, including classification of certain supervisory personnel, were also listed.

Company officials, along with representatives of the CWA and federal mediators, announced settlement of the long, violence-marked strike after a 25-hour bargaining session Sunday.

Ohio Press Photographers' convention in Columbus, 18-year-old Jackie Lee, who has brown hair and blue eyes, will represent the Buckeye State in Washington March 25-29 during the National Press Photographers Assn. convention.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Hoppes, who live on Route 753, two miles south of Good Hope, 110-pound Jackie Lee has a wide variety of interests: she's a top-bracket student, she sings, she sews and she knows how to produce championship livestock.

LAST YEAR she showed the champion Shorthorn heifer at the Ohio State Junior Fair. In 4-H work for eight years, she has won a number of trophies at the Fayette County Fair—two of them for modeling wearing apparel she made herself.

She'll appear on TV (Channel 10 at 7 o'clock tonight) in her new role as Miss Press Photographer—but it won't be her first time before the cameras. She's a member of a Wayne High School vocal trio called the "Three Teens" which has won local acclaim and had had a TV spot. The other two Teens are Barbara Sue Kneisley and Edna Mae Hoppes, the latter a cousin of Jackie Lee.

As a student—well, she placed fifth in the county in the Senior Scholarship Test!

Miss Hoppes, who also is one of Wayne High's four cheerleaders, will receive a four-day, all-expense plane trip to Washington in addition to the trophy which she holds in the picture above.

Nancy Lloyd, 18, of Columbus, was runner-up to Jackie Lee in the Ohio contest, and Diana Attie, 18, of Toledo, was third. Members of court were Jacqueline Kay Turner, 19, of Athens, and Charlotte Haak, 19, of Canton.

Ike Warns Mideast Nations Against Menace from Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today told the Middle East nations to "lay the menace of international communism" "could smash all their hard won accomplishments overnight."

In a worldwide radio broadcast marking the 15th anniversary of the Voice of America, Eisenhower noted that in the face of that menace, he has asked Congress to approve an anti-communist program for the Middle East.

"I believe that the well-being of the people of the Middle East requires the nations of that region to build-up and strengthen their economies and institutions," the President said. "We want to see that kind of progress."

The administration's program fits right in with that objective, he said, and continued:

"In order that this constructive work may go on within these countries, they must be free of the menace of international communist, which could smash all their hard won accomplishments overnight.

"And so we give these countries the assurance that if such a danger develops, and if the United Nations machinery cannot deal with it, the danger, and a threatened country asks for our help, it can count on our help. So, behind the protective arm of this assurance, the real creative work of progress can go on, and, to spread this creative work, an extra measure of economic assistance for the area is included in my proposals."

The administration program before Congress would provide for use of American troops in the Middle East, if necessary, and authorize $200 million annually in financial aid.

In his prepared text, the President made no specific mention of the current crisis precipitated by Israel's refusal to pull its forces out of territory claimed by Egypt.

U. S., Israel Seen Nearing Accord on Withdrawal Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Israel appeared close to agreement today on a formula for an Israeli troop withdrawal without sanctions, but the big question was whether Egypt would go along.

United Nations action also would be necessary for some of the points Secretary of State Dulles and Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban discussed during a three-hour meeting Sunday.

In their discussions, the two men divided the problem up into United States and United Nations aspects, then issued a joint statement which spoke hopefully of prospects for solution of both.

The statement said Eban was reporting Dulles' remarks to Jerusalem immediately and was remaining "in close touch" with the State Department.

Eban was expected to confer on U. N. angles today with Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in New York.

Dulles met with Eban after the ambassador flew back to Washington with new instructions given him at Jerusalem by Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion.

Officials indicated the United States would continue its silence in the U. N. on the question of imposing U. N. sanctions against Israel to force Israeli troops withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. Egypt, which claims the right to both areas seized by Israel last October, has been demanding Israel's withdrawal and has been backed by U. N. resolutions.

A joint communique put out Sunday night by Dulles and Eban reported that Eban presented Israel's views, Dulles "clarified certain points" about the United States "attitude and intent," and they agreed to talk some more.

The communique emphasized the U. S. memorandum to Israel of last Feb. 11. Officials said this memo represented the latest U. S. position. They indicated that Dulles and Eban were in accord on this division of the problem:

1. Gulf of Aqaba—Could be worked out in talks between Israel and the United States. Dulles had offered support for free access and Israel called for stronger guarantees. Both agreed U. N. forces should occupy Sharm el Sheikh, the gun position overlooking the mouth of the gulf, whenever Israeli troops withdraw from it. But there was a feeling Israel might settle for Dulles' assurance if the Gaza question could be settled to its liking.

2. Gaza Strip—A U. N. problem. Dulles emphasized in his Feb. 11 memo to Eban that only the parties to the Palestine truce could change it, and that left out the United States. The truce gave Egypt the right to administer Gaza.

Ben-Gurion said in a speech last Thursday that Israel never will agree to giving Gaza back to Egypt. He is known to be trying to get some sort of de facto U. N. control which would leave Israeli civil administration in Gaza. He has offered to make a substantial start on rehabilitating the 200,000 refugees there. This is the proposal Eban was expected to lay before Hammarskjöld.

The pope then took up the question of whether it is morally right to use drugs to reduce pain, on medical advice, when the life of the patient probably would be shortened by doing so:

"One must answer: 'Yes—provided no other means exist and if, in the given circumstances, that action does not prevent the carrying out of other moral and religious duties.'"

The pope said "the acceptance of physical suffering, even on the occasion of surgical operations, can reveal a lofty heroism and frequently gives genuine testimony to a heroic imitation of the passion of Christ."

"Nevertheless," he continued, "that does not mean that it is an indispensable part of it; in major operations especially it is not unusual for anesthetics to be essential for other reasons, and the surgeon or the patient could not omit them without a lack of Christian prudence."

"THE PRESIDENT also has selected the men who would head up the wartime agencies. They know who they are.

"There has been no public announcement of their selection. They simply serve as consultants to ODM or to other agencies."

Fleming said these men already "are engaged in selecting the second and third echelons of personnel or their organizations."

He said ODM has developed detailed readiness plans to deal with general mobilization either with or without an attack on this country. He added that his agency also has developed the "action steps" to be taken and has identified the agencies that would be responsible for these steps.

158 Mph. Wind Off Pacific Kills 3, Floods Oregon City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bristling Pacific storm, with winds up to 158 miles an hour, barged into the West Coast over the weekend and killed three persons, flooded part of an Oregon city and grounded airliners.

Warm moisture-laden air from the Gulf of Mexico spread into the Midwest and brought relatively mild temperatures to the rest of the nation.

Continued rain was in prospect for the West Coast today, but without the furious winds.

The gale blasted parts of Washington state Sunday with gusts up to 158 miles an hour. The thawing wind melted snow on the slopes along the Powder River in eastern Oregon and about 40 homes in Baker were flooded.

To-morrow and National Guardsmen battled the river with sandbags to protect the rest of Baker, a community of 9,500.

In southeastern Oregon the Mal-

hour River was expected to crest today after flooding parts of Vale and surrounding areas. Sheriff John Elvinger said the community was "virtually isolated" with 18 inches of water over U. S. Highway 20-26 between Vale and Ontario. Schools were closed.

In northern California, a 600-foot stretch of U. S. Highway 101, the main north-south artery, was blocked by a mudslide from 8 to 10 feet deep. More than 500 motorists were stranded at Willits.

A terrific gust felled a 135-foot fir tree near Grants Pass, Ore., and killed two foresters. A woman killed in Monterey, Calif., by a falling pine tree.

The torrential rains posed a minor flood threat to the Russian River resort area about 55 miles north of San Francisco.

As far south as Los Angeles, a quick downpour flooded lowlands for a brief period Saturday.

Eisenhower, the Middle East and the U. N.

Those who heard President Eisenhower's TV talk relative to the whole Middle East problem and especially the situation now faced by United Nations with reference to Israel, must have recognized that the President's position in this has given him added stature in the minds of most Americans and probably in other nations.

The President's patience in seeking to work out a peaceful solution to the bitter controversy surrounding that region, while involving many problems, gives the impression that here is a Lincoln-type of man who is doing the best job possible for the world as a whole in the diplomacy he is following.

There are many, for political or other reasons, who may not agree with his methods, but these same persons if suddenly given the responsibility for such a job, would probably hesitate long before doing some of the things which they blame Eisenhower for not doing at this time or which they advocate.

It is quite evident that the President is urgently seeking to have the United Nations organization handle the situation along lines corresponding with what it was originally set up to do. He is trying to make the UN work in a manner befitting such an organization.

For a long time after the United Nations was founded, this country and other great powers often were accused of bypassing it in favor of old style nation-to-nation diplomacy.

Even when the United Nations command was established at the outset of the Korean war, the charge was made that the United States engineered this to gain international sanction for a course it intended to pursue anyway.

Whatever measure of truth there may have been in these general criticisms, the United States of late has been channeling its foreign policy through the U. N. on an unprecedented scale.

Particularly on the Middle East crisis, we have sought to take major decisions in concert with a majority of U. N. members. Yet there is a curious irony in all this. For at the very stage when we have turned more sharply toward the U. N. as an instrument, we find the make-up of the organization so altered that we can no longer easily muster majority support for our all-basic viewpoints.

They used to say of the old League of Nations that it was essentially a vehicle of British-French foreign policy. All prospect is gone that the U. N. will be thus characterized.

From the beginning the opposition of the stubborn Soviet bloc made this unlikely. Now the growth of the Asian-African contingent is putting the West and its friends in a minority.

This group still is growing. In a few weeks Britain's tiny Gold Coast colony will gain its independence. Undoubtedly this new African nation will not be too long in gaining entry to the U. N. Others surely will follow.

We can join with all these in a genuine wish for peace, but it is plain we will not see eye to eye with them many times on the means to achieve it.

We and our Western friends remain convinced that a stiff defense against world communism is an indispensable foundation for lasting peace with honor and justice.

The Asian-African group, with certain exceptions, appears too little troubled over the menace and more often than not, when tested in a U. N. show of hands, will take a course giving Moscow the benefit of the doubt.

Eilat, a Key Town in Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Hanoch Nenner, the energetic mayor of Eilat, usually starts off the day asking his secretary "What's the population today?"

His town is growing so fast he can't keep up with it.

Since November, when Israeli forces broke an eight-year Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, the tiny port has doubled its population of 850 and soon is expected to reach 2,000.

By any comparison it still is tiny. But Israel is making big plans and pinning high hopes on Eilat's future. Israelis envision it as a great shipping and commercial gateway to East Africa and Asia. They see it also as a major terminal of a projected overland route across Israel that would be at least a partial alternative to the Suez Canal.

Eilat lies at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba on the southernmost tip of Israel. It is Israel's only access to the deepwater gulf which flows into the Red Sea 100 miles to the south. Israel owns only a six mile stretch of shoreline on the gulf around Eilat. Along the rest of the shoreline are Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the east and Egypt on the west.

For Israelis, Eilat's future depends on free navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba for their ships and the vessels of other nations carrying cargo to and from Israel.

For that reason, the Israelis are desperately determined to keep open their newly won "gateway to the east" with its potentially high trade with East Africa and Asia.

And for the same reason Israel for the time being at least, is defying the United Nations by refusing to withdraw from the southern tip of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula which commands the narrow strait between the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba.

To protect its access, Israel set up a naval command at Eilat soon after the November Sinai campaign. She sent two navy frigates from Haifa on the Mediterranean Coast around the Cape of Good Hope to take up their station at Eilat and at the same time sent overland by truck several torpedo boats and landing craft which now are in Eilat Harbor.

Last week the interior ministry established the Port of Eilat and Eilat Airfield as official frontier posts for entry and exit from Israel. In recent weeks eight merchant vessels have docked at Eilat, which before November was almost completely idle.

Israeli shipping agents now are offering to ship goods from Europe to East Africa ports at savings of 30 per cent under the Cape of Good Hope route and in about half the time or four weeks required around the cape. On this route, European shipments are offloaded at Haifa, transhipped across Israel by rail and truck and loaded on to freighters at Eilat.

An ulcer is not a confidential matter. In fact, with so many businessmen and others suffering from ulcers these days, it has almost become a subject for everyday conversation.

When you consult a doctor for any trouble at all, certainly you should inform him immediately if you have, or think you have, an ulcer, even if that isn't what is bothering you.

This is especially true in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis.

However, not many patients with pulmonary TB will also have a peptic ulcer, but there are some unfortunate who have both.

Complications Developed
A recent study in England disclosed that 15 persons developed a complication of their peptic ulcers following operations for pulmonary tuberculosis.

A complication such as gastrointestinal hemorrhage is a grave emergency. It's not always easy to control a bleeding ulcer.

Should a partial gastrectomy become necessary, the tubercular lung condition is likely to become worse.

Operate Safely
In most cases, we can operate safely even if an ulcer is present if only we know about it beforehand. We can treat the ulcer adequately and operate on the lung efficiently and without undue danger.

This may be a rather drastic example of what can happen if you don't tell your doctor all about your physical condition when you ask him to help you.

Answer: It is generally not advisable for a person with epilepsy to use alcoholic beverages.

CHICAGO (AP)—Whizzing hubcaps, jelly-fingered children and aggressive big dogs are producing ulcers in "man's best friend", a Pennsylvania veterinarian claims.

A slower tempo of life or perhaps tranquilizing drugs might help relieve big-city canine distress, William Glenney, of Wynnewood, Pa., president of the American Veterinary Radiology Society, told the organization Sunday.

Glenney cited traffic, unfriendly contacts with other dogs and getting enough food as factors leading to dog distress. The mauling they receive from children is another bothersome thing, he said.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France were as close as a pair of pants until they split over the French attack on Egypt last November. The pants have badly needed mending ever since.

So when President Eisenhower and French Premier Guy Mollet met Tuesday—the first such meeting since the invasion of Egypt—it will be like a couple of tailors sewing on a patch.

And the result, like any good patch, will probably be satisfactory but unsensational.

Mollet was premier when the attack was made. It was a combined French-British assault, arranged by Mollet with the then British Prime Minister Eden. It was also one of the clumsiest fumbles in French-British history.

The White House was equally mad at both men for the attack which infuriated the Arab world just when the United States was extremely anxious to keep the Arabs friendly to the West and away from Russia.

Eisenhower and the United Nations put pressure on the British and French to stop the shooting. Both did and left Egypt. But the independent French-British action caused the first postwar bustup among the three big allies.

Mollet and Eden very quickly wanted to come here to see Eisenhower to get things straightened out. That kind of reconciliation so it wouldn't have looked good to the Arabs. Eisenhower gave the two prime ministers a cold shoulder.

In the backwash of that military fiasco, the split between the United States and Britain, and Eisenhower's aloofness, Eden ran into trouble at home and finally resigned, pleading illness.

Not so Mollet, a dry, professional, colorless French politician. Reports from Paris say the French, even though dismayed by the willingness of their government to back out of Egypt so fast, admired Mollet for his daring in fighting at all.

But the rift between this country and its two allies couldn't be permitted to go on indefinitely. And Eisenhower, after talking things over with Mollet, will visit with Eden's successor, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

What sometimes gets lost sight of in concern over the American-British-French split was why the British and French, who had worked hand-in-glove with this country, had attacked Egypt on their own without telling the United States.

Eden and Mollet were sore at the way Secretary of State Dulles had handled Egyptian President Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The British and French didn't want to let Nasser get away with it.

Dulles offered some plans for dealing with Nasser. None of them worked. They used up time. And they left Nasser in undisturbed possession of the Canal. Eden and Mollet didn't want any more of Dulles' delays. So they struck. But it seemed clear from the beginning that any quarrel of this kind between the United States and its allies could be only temporary. They need each other too much in standing off communism to go their separate ways.

But neither the British nor the French have been in sympathy with Eisenhower, and Dulles on their handling of Israel, which also attacked Egypt.

Eisenhower and Dulles have been talking vaguely about imposing sanctions on the Israelis for refusing to leave Egyptian territory until they get guarantees—from the United States or the United Nations—that, once they pull back, Nasser won't be allowed to attack them, as he did in the past.

Mollet and Eisenhower will have to mull over that difference. But, aside from that, there are no basic quarrels between this country and its allies. All three are still partners.

One result of the French-British decision to go it alone in invading Egypt may be to make Dulles and Eisenhower a little more careful to listen to the British and French when they think in the case of Suez, their vital interests are at stake.

By the same token they'll probably think twice about getting into a war the next time without telling this country or getting its support.

A Forgotten Legacy

In our prolonged history as a nation, now 169 years since the adoption of the Constitution, we have not been blessed by an extraordinarily large number of statesmen or political philosophers.

It is astonishing, however, to note how many really great minds were active in preparing the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and in charting the new government through the earliest years of its history.

All these men, of whatever philosophy, Thomas Jefferson as well as Alexander Hamilton, Sam Adams as well as John Adams, Thomas Paine as well as John Marshall recognized the genius, the competence, the wisdom of George Washington.

The fact that George Washington pronounced a doctrine does not give it validity for all time, but it is to be noted that few statements of national purpose have had a more profound effect upon our historic policy than those enunciated in Washington's farewell address.

Although it must be conceded that the doctrine of non-entanglement grew increasingly unpopular after Roosevelt's quarantine speech in 1937 and the word isolationist, became a term of opprobrium and even sham during World War II, the failure of American foreign policy to achieve not only its goals but any goals, the reckless outpouring of wealth of the people into bottomless coffers in many distant countries, the flirtations of the present administration with Communists, dictators and slave-owners, does cause some wonderment as to whether George Washington did not exhibit greater prescience than those who today can find it more moral to apply sanctions against Israel for invading Gaza than against Nehru for invading Kashmir.

The oft-repeated references to George Washington's farewell address rarely remind the reader that this was a renunciation of a third term in the office of the presidency. He could not be dissuaded from his decision not to run again.

He was assisted in the formulation of this document by Madison, Jay and Hamilton but the original is in his handwriting. There was, of course, no twenty-second amendment, limiting the president to two terms then, but Washington did not regard himself as irreplaceable. In the rather rounded language of the period, he said:

"I rejoice, that the state of your concerns, external as well as internal, no longer renders the pursuit of inclination incompatible with the sentiment of duty, or propriety; and am persuaded whatever partiality may be retained for my services, that in the present circumstances of our country, you will not disapprove my determination to retire."

It is in this farewell address, in which Washington rejected, a third term, that he laid down a foreign policy for this country, one that to a greater or lesser degree was followed closely by most of his successors:

"... The nation, which indulges toward another and habitual hatred, or a habitual fondness, is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest."

It would seem as though President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge might have read that sentence and the several paragraphs of

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE COURSE OF TRUE JUSTICE took an odd twist in an Illinois courtroom some time ago. A slick young lawyer assured the judge, "It wasn't really my client who ransacked the home of the plaintiff. He noted that a window was wide open, and merely inserted his arm—and removed a few inconsequential nick-nacks. Now you will admit that my client's arm is not technically himself. Why punish all of him for an indiscretion committed by only one of his limbs?"

The judge thought that one over for a moment, then decreed, "An ingenious defense—and following it logically, I sentence this defendant's arm to one year in jail. He may accompany the arm or not, as he chooses."

The laughter of the courtroom attendants was checked abruptly when the defendant calmly removed his artificial arm, put it down on the judge's bench and walked out.

Eisenhower, the Middle East and the U. N.

Those who heard President Eisenhower's TV talk relative to the whole Middle East problem and especially the situation now faced by United Nations with reference to Israel, must have recognized that the President's position in this has given him added stature in the minds of most Americans and probably in other nations.

The President's patience in seeking to work out a peaceful solution to the bitter controversy surrounding that region, while involving many problems, gives the impression that here is a Lincoln-type of man who is doing the best job possible for the world as a whole in the diplomacy he is following.

There are many, for political or other reasons, who may not agree with his methods, but these same persons if suddenly given the responsibility for such a job, would probably hesitate long before doing some of the things which they blame Eisenhower for not doing at this time or which they advocate.

It is quite evident that the President is urgently seeking to have the United Nations organization handle the situation along lines corresponding with what it was originally set up to do. He is trying to make the UN work in a manner befitting such an organization.

For a long time after the United Nations was founded, this country and other great powers often were accused of bypassing it in favor of old style nation-to-nation diplomacy.

Even when the United Nations command was established at the outset of the Korean war, the charge was made that the United States engineered this to gain international sanction for a course it intended to pursue anyway.

Whatever measure of truth there may have been in these general criticisms, the United States of late has been channeling its foreign policy through the U. N. on an unprecedented scale.

Particularly on the Middle East crisis, we have sought to take major decisions in concert with a majority of U. N. members.

Yet there is a curious irony in all this. For at the very stage when we have turned more sharply toward the U. N. as an instrument, we find the make-up of the organization so altered that we can no longer easily muster majority support for our all-basic viewpoints.

They used to say of the old League of Nations that it was essentially a vehicle of British-French foreign policy. All prospect is gone that the U. N. will be thus characterized.

From the beginning the opposition of the stubborn Soviet bloc made this unlikely. Now the growth of the Asian-African contingent is putting the West and its friends in a minority.

This group still is growing. In a few weeks Britain's tiny Gold Coast colony will gain its independence. Undoubtedly this new African nation will not be too long in gaining entry to the U. N. Others surely will follow.

We can join with all these in a genuine wish for peace, but it is plain we will not see eye to eye with them many times on the means to achieve it.

We and our Western friends remain convinced that a stiff defense against world communism is an indispensable foundation for lasting peace with honor and justice.

The Asian-African group, with certain exceptions, appears too little troubled over the menace and more often than not, when tested in a U. N. show of hands, will take a course giving Moscow the benefit of the doubt.

Eilat, a Key Town in Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Hanoach Nemmer, the energetic mayor of Eilat, usually starts off the day asking his secretary "What's the population today?"

His town is growing so fast he can't keep up with it.

Since November, when Israeli forces broke an eight-year Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, the tiny port has doubled its population of 850 and soon is expected to reach 2,000. By any comparison it still is tiny. But Israel is making big plans and pinning high hopes on Eilat's future. Israelis envision it as a great shipping and commercial gateway to East Africa and Asia. They see it also as a major terminal of a projected overland route across Israel that would be at least a partial alternative to the Suez Canal.

Eilat lies at the head of the Gulf of Aqaba on the southernmost tip of Israel. It is Israel's only access to the deepwater gulf which flows into the Red Sea 100 miles to the south. Israel owns only a six mile stretch of shoreline on the gulf around Eilat. Along the rest of the shoreline are Jordan and Saudi Arabia on the east and Egypt on the west.

For Israel, Eilat's future depends on free navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba for their ships and the vessels of other nations carrying cargo to and from Israel.

For that reason, the Israelis are desperately determined to keep open their newly won "gateway to the east" with its potentially high trade with East Africa and Asia.

And for the same reason Israel for the time being at least, is defying the United Nations by refusing to withdraw from the southern tip of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula which commands the narrow strait between the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aqaba.

To protect its access, Israel set up a naval command at Eilat soon after the November Sinai campaign. She sent two navy frigates from Haifa on the Mediterranean Coast around the Cape of Good Hope to take up their station at Eilat and at the same time sent overland by truck several torpedo boats and landing craft which now are in Eilat Harbor.

Last week the interior ministry established the Port of Eilat and Eilat Airfield as official frontier posts for entry and exit from Israel. In recent weeks eight merchant vessels have docked at Eilat, which before November was almost completely idle.

Israeli shipping agents now are off-loading to cargo shipments from Europe to East Africa ports at savings of 30 per cent under the Cape of Good Hope route and in about half the three or four weeks required around the cape. On this route, European shipments are offloaded at Haifa, transhipped across Israel by rail and truck and loaded on to freighters at Eilat.

Zadok Dumkopf says he's not scared by predictions of a "hair curling" depression. He's stone bald.

In announcing his forthcoming marriage a 105-year-old South African declares he has at last found "the right woman." Doesn't discourage easily, does he?

During her now ended 11-day hunger strike, Doris Shafik, Egypt's belligerent feminist leader, reduced her weight 17 pounds. Just getting into fighting trim?

Among others glad to see the President cut short his hunting holiday in Georgia are that state's wild turkeys and quail.

Those fantastic giveaway TV quiz programs are on the wane, says a critic. Don't tell us they've reached their last plateau!

George Washington was no sourpuss but had a fine sense of humor, according to a new, just-published biography. We believe it—he sure made a laughing stock out of a whole army of Redcoats.

warning that follow it when they flew down to Georgia to discuss the Suez-Gaza situation in the peaceful atmosphere of George Humphrey's shooting lodge. This sentence might have helped them too.

"... Sympathy for the favorite nation, facilitating the illusion of an imaginary common interest, in cases where no real common interest exists, and infusing into one the enmities of the other, betrays the former into a participation in the quarrels and wars of the latter, without adequate inducement or justification; it leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges (sic) denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions."

Surely excessive partiality for Nehru's India, Tito's Yugoslavia and Nasser's Egypt would have appeared to George Washington as unseemly, for of such partiality he said:

"... Real patriots, who may resist the intrigues (sic) of the favorite, are liable to become suspected and odious; while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people, to surrender their interests."

I can quote no more for want of room, but in this year of fateful errors, it would be sound for CITIZENS TO READ George Washington's farewell address—a legacy to his people.

Debate on World Sanctions Against Israel Is Delayed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's debate on sanctions against Israel was delayed at least until late today as U. S.-Israeli negotiations entered a new stage.

The Assembly's morning meeting was canceled after Secretary of State Dulles met in Washington with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban.

The Israeli ambassador said he hoped for a prompt meeting with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, and "it is hoped that out of the discussions a solution will be found consistent with the principles of the United Nations." Eban's return with new instructions from his government and the resumption of negotiations between Dulles and the Israelis enabled the United States to postpone an announcement whether it would vote for the sanctions resolution, worked up in the 27-nation Asian-African group and sponsored by Afghanistan, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan and Sudan.

THE RESOLUTION would call on all U.N. members "to deny all military, economic or financial assistance to Israel" until she quits the Gaza Strip and the Egyptian coast of the Gulf of Aqaba.

An Asian-African diplomat said Sunday night, "If Ambassador Lodge tells us that Israel is willing to withdraw, then we'll have to consider it. If there is no indication Israel is going to withdraw, there is no reason not to press the resolution."

A usually well-informed Arab source guessed that if the United States supported the sanctions resolution, it would get 60 or more votes in the 80-nation Assembly.

But he said if the United States did not go along, the proposal would not get the necessary two-thirds vote.

Israel says it cannot leave the Egyptian mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba and the Palestinian Gaza Strip, formerly under provisional Egyptian control, without guarantees against renewed Egyptian blockade of the gulf and renewed Arab raids from the strip.

The United States has been trying to work out a satisfactory compromise but agrees with the Arab contention that to go further than the assurances Dulles has given Israel would "reward the Israelis for aggression."

Collegian, 20, Is Arrested For Robberies

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—A Wooster College sophomore appears in Municipal Court here today for arraignment on armed robbery charges.

Police said the student, George Cleveland Bailey Jr., 20, of Baltimore, Md., told them he used a college stage prop gun in six robberies. Bailey was active in dramatics at the college.

In 80 minutes Sunday, police said, Bailey held up attendants at four service stations and attempted to rob a fifth station in the Canton-Massillon area. Police estimated the take from these hold-ups at about $165 and said Bailey also admitted robbing service stations in Medina and Parma last week.

Bailey escaped when police closed in on him as he was returning to his car from one station he had robbed. Bailey fled on foot and police opened fire. Unharmed, the youth hid on a garage roof.

But police learned easily where to find him through a check of the license plates on his car. Bailey was taken into custody without a struggle at his rooming house in Wooster.

Bailey, who was majoring in philosophy and had good grades, told police he was glad he had GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year-old accused killer is expected to sign extradition papers today that will send him to Virginia to face a murder charge in the death of his 68-year-old cousin.

The youth, Lloyd Hill, indicated he will sign the extradition papers at a 10 a.m. hearing before Juvenile Court Judge John Howell. Hill's parents also indicated they will sign their son's extradition papers. The parents' signatures are necessary since Hill is a minor.

Hill is charged with killing John Ward, a retired Coal Grove iron molder, while the two were driving to Florida. They left in Ward's car Feb. 14. Hill returned alone the next day.

Sheriff Oscar Baird of Gallia County said Hill admitted hitting Ward over the head on a highway near Independence, Va., but he said Hill claimed Ward was still alive when Hill left.

Virginia authorities have issued murder and robbery warrants against Hill. The authorities are expected to escort Hill to Virginia as soon as the necessary extradition papers are signed.

Sheriff's deputies, meanwhile, kept a night-long watch over Hill's cell against the possibility that youth might try suicide.

Baird said Hill threatened to commit suicide if he got the chance. The sheriff, said, however he did not think Hill was serious.

Ohio Solon Raps Sanctions Move

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, says Congress would never back sanctions against Israel.

"Dulles has spent all his efforts for weeks attempting to get Israel to conform to what he thinks is the proper procedure in the dispute between Israel and Egypt," Hays told the B'nai Israel brotherhood, "but he didn't spend as much as a day attempting to get the Russians out of Hungary."

The congressman from Flushing said the United States is losing prestige with its "double moral standard—one for small nations and one for Russia."

Debate on World Sanctions Against Israel Is Delayed

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's debate on sanctions against Israel was delayed at least until late today as U. S.-Israeli negotiations entered a new stage.

The Assembly's morning meeting was canceled after Secretary of State Dulles met in Washington with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban.

The Israeli ambassador said he hoped for a prompt meeting with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, and "it is hoped that out of the discussions a solution will be found consistent with the principles of the United Nations."

Eban's return with new instructions from his government and the resumption of negotiations between Dulles and the Israeli ambassador enabled the United States to postpone an announcement whether it would vote for the sanctions resolution, worked up in the 27-nation Asian-African group and sponsored by Afghanistan, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Pakistan and Sudan.

THE RESOLUTION would call on all U.N. members "to deny all military, economic or financial assistance to Israel" until she quits the Gaza Strip and the Egyptian coast of the Gulf of Aqaba.

An Asian-African diplomat said Sunday night, "If Ambassador Lodge tells us that Israel is willing to withdraw, then we'll have to consider it. If there is no indication Israel is going to withdraw, there is no reason not to press the resolution."

A usually well-informed Arab source guessed that if the United States supported the sanctions resolution, it would get 60 or more votes in the 80-nation Assembly.

But he said if the United States did not go along, the proposal would not get the necessary two-thirds vote.

Israel says it cannot leave the Egyptian mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba and the Palestinian Gaza Strip, formerly under provisional Egyptian control, without guarantees against renewed Egyptian blockade of the gulf and renewed Arab raids from the strip.

The United States has been trying to work out a satisfactory compromise but agrees with the Arab contention that to go further than the assurances Dulles has given Israel would "reward the Israelis for aggression."

In 80 minutes Sunday, police said, Bailey held up attendants at four service stations and attempted to rob a fifth station in the Canton-Massillon area. Police estimated the take from these hold-ups at about $165 and said Bailey also admitted robbing service stations in Medina and Parma last week.

Bailey escaped when police closed in on him as he was returning to his car from one station he had robbed. Bailey fled on foot and police opened fire. Unharmed, the youth hid on a garage roof.

But police learned easily where to find him through a check of the license plates on his car. Bailey was taken into custody without a struggle at his rooming house in Wooster.

Big Ten Race Draws Close To Finale

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana, Ohio State and Michigan State could all be tied for first place tonight as the big Ten race heads into a crucial seven days.

The issue is squarely before Indiana's Hoosiers who lead the league with a 9-2 record while Ohio State and Michigan State trail with 8-3 marks.

Indiana plays Michigan tonight at Ann Arbor where the Wolverines have proved anything but genial hosts. Michigan State is at Wisconsin and Ohio State entertains Illinois. In the only other game, Iowa is at Minnesota.

The three leaders were all victorious Saturday. Indiana breezed past last-place Wisconsin, 85-74; Michigan State made it eight straight with a 70-65 triumph over Minnesota; and Ohio State turned back Michigan, 94-88. In other games, Illinois defeated Purdue, 80-78, and Iowa whipped Northwestern, 74-66.

Indiana has troubles ahead. After the Michigan game tonight, the Hoosiers face Michigan State at East Lansing Saturday before closing the season at home against Illinois.

Michigan State should make it nine straight against Wisconsin before girding for the "must" game against Indiana. The Spartans wind up against arch-rival Michigan next Monday at Ann Arbor.

Ohio State also is faced with two road games. Following tonight's encounter against Illinois, the Buckeyes play at Northwestern Saturday and at Minnesota.

Syracuse '5' Shows Power In Pro Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals, who only a short time ago were buried in the cellar of the National Basketball Assn.'s Eastern Division, have moved into a position where they are threatening the Philadelphia Warriors' hold on second place.

With the end of the regular season just a little over two weeks away, the Nats today trail the Warriors by only one game after gaining ground over the weekend with two victories. They beat Minneapolis 103-101 Saturday, then trimmed Rochester 109-103.

Meantime, the Warriors dropped a 113-112 decision to St. Louis in their long start of the weekend Sunday. The New York Knicks slipped 2 1/2 games back of the Nats by splitting a pair. They beat Fort Wayne 102-94 Saturday but lost to pace-setting Boston Sunday 97-85 even though the Celtics played without ace Bob Cousy.

Minneapolis, trailing Fort Wayne and St. Louis, tightened the Western Division by beating the Pistons 123-115 Sunday. Rochester gained a split in its weekend competition, beating St. Louis 101-85.

Mogadore Athletes To Be Pallbearers

AKRON (AP)—The Mogadore High School basketball team will be pallbearers today at the funeral of Linda Carroll Evans, 4-year-old daughter of their assistant coach, Walter J. Evans.

The girl was killed Friday when her father took her for a ride on a farm tractor and it tipped over. He was not hurt.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks

without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thirifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretching bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

'Unknown' Leads Houston Tourney

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gene Bone, unknown even to many stars on the winter golf tour, held a 2 - stroke lead today as he made his final bid for the $7,500 top money in the $36,000 Houston Open.

The friendly 25-year-old from Louisville used good putting to overcome a few bad shots Sunday and boost his lead with a 54-hole 69-67-70—206.

This was 10 under par for the 7,200-yard, par-72 Memorial Park course and enabled him to beat off a surge by Bob Harris, former national collegiate champion from Winnetka, Ill.

Bloomington Plays Oak Hill In Tournament

Bulldogs To Start Play Tuesday Night At Clay High School

Bloomington's Bulldogs, basketball champions of Fayette County, will play their first game in the district tournament at Clay High School, near Portsmouth, with the boys from Oak Hill at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday. Tourney play starts Monday night.

The Bulldogs will take a record of 15-6 to the tournament and the Oak Hill team one of 2-9 in class A play and 5-14 in AA play.

While all the teams in the tournament represent class A schools, several of them have been playing AA school teams during the season. Class AA schools are larger than the class A schools.

Toughest teams in the tournament, on the basis of their records, appear to be undefeated New Boston with a 9-0 class A record and 18-0 record overall; Piketon, with a 13-0 class A record and 16-1 overall, and Fairland, with a class A record of 15-1 and overall record of 20-2.

IF THE BULLDOGS whip the Oak Hill boys Tuesday night they will tangle with the winner of the Fairland-Huntington (18-3) on Friday at 8:30 p. m.

Coach Everett Rudolph of Bloomington said the team will leave for the tournament about 5 p. m. Tuesday. Indications are that it will be followed by a big delegation of Bloomington rooters.

Clay High School is on the left side of Route 23 (main highway from Chillicothe to Portsmouth), about 5 miles south of Lucasville and 4 miles north of Portsmouth. It is about 75 miles south of here and Coach Rudolph said he considered a two-hour drive.

SCHEDULE for the opening games of the upper bracket of the tournament and team records, both class A and class AA, is:

Monday night — Piketon (13-0) and 16-1 vs. Green (17-2) and 18-4 and Buford (17-8) vs. Winchester (21-5).

TUESDAY NIGHT — Fairland (15-1 and 20-2) vs. Huntington (18-3) and Bloomington (15-6) vs. Oak Hill (2-9 and 5-14).

Teams in the other bracket start play Wednesday night: New Boston (9-0 and 18-0) vs. Unioto (12-9); Locust Grove (20-4) vs. South Webster (15-5 and 17-7) and Centralia (18-2) vs. Chesapeake (3-2 and 12-12). Lynchburg (16-6) was seeded for the second round on Saturday.

Trainer Johnny Nerud, who handles racing standouts Switch On and Gallant Man, formerly was a jockey agent for Ted Atkinson.

North Carolina Still Needs To Win Berth in NCAA Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina's 22-game unbeaten streak is the envy of the college basketball world.

But six big-time college coaches have something that Tar Heel Coach Frank McGuire would give a lot to own—a berth in the postseason NCAA University Division Tournament.

To make the NCAA event, the Tar Heels must take the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament
March 7-9. It's a sure bet McGuire would swap a defeat in either of UNC's two remaining regular season games for that prize.

McGuire has said that he feared going into the tourney unbeaten, because the pressure would be too great.

Coaches at Connecticut, Canisius, Kentucky, Miami of Ohio,
Southern Methodist and Idaho
State can rest easy until the NCAA tourney. The same goes for Manhattan, Seattle, Memphis
State, Dayton, Cincinnati and St.
Bonaventure, who have accepted
6 of the 12 spots in the other major postseason circus, the National Invitational Tournament.

Connecticut wrapped up the Yankee Conference spot last week. Canisius accepted one of the seven "at-large" bids Saturday and the other four NCAA starters locked up slots that night. Twelve other conference races and the bids that go with them are still in the pot.

Southern Methodist made the glamor group by whipping Rice 75-72 to pick up a third consecutive Southwest Conference title.
Idaho State did it with a 47-36
triumph over Western Colorado State for the Rocky Mountain crown; and Miami came in with a 47-40 over Toledo to grab Mid-American laurels.

Kentucky, 79-60 winner over Alabama, can still be tied for the Southeastern Conference top spot
by either Vanderbilt or Auburn.
But Auburn is on probation and Vandy has lost twice to the Wildcats, leaving the prize a certainty for Adolph Rupp's five.

West Virginia, with the Southern Conference championship already won, still must take the league tourney to get the NCAA nod.

Here's a look at some other league races:

Big Ten—Indiana boosted its first-place record to 9-2 by dumping Wisconsin 85-74, while Michigan State stayed close, taking its eighth straight after two early losses, 70-65 over Minnesota. Indiana is at Michigan State Saturday.

Big Seven—If Wilt (The Stilt)
Chamberlain is to be an NCAA showpiece, Kansas (8-1) must ward off the challenge of Kansas State (7-2). Both won over the weekend; Kansas 87-60 against Nebraska and K-State 86-77 over
Iowa State. Kansas is at K-State
March 6.

Missouri Valley—St. Louis (9-2) turned back Bradley (8-2) 73-66 to take over first place, but the race still is a tossup.

845 TV Stations
Listed in World

NEW YORK (AP)—There are now
845 TV stations and 56 million TV sets in the world, the trade newsletter Television Digest reports in its new factbook.

Of this total, the United States has 496 stations and 42 million sets. Next in order are Great Britain, 19 stations, 6 1/2 million sets;
Canada, 37 stations, 2 1/2 million sets; Russia, 31 stations and 1.3 million sets; West Germany, 34 stations, 700,000 sets.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

March 1 used to be "moving day" for a large number of farm tenants, and before the coming of automotive farm equipment, scores of these farm tenants in Fayette County each year moved from one place to another in an effort to better their economic conditions.

Some of these farm tenants were so good that they attracted attention of farmers who offered them better wages (for years 75 cents to $1 a day was paid for farm labor) than they were receiving on the farms on which they lived.

Others were so worthless that the farm owner was glad to get rid of them and try someone else who appeared more promising.

Part of these farm tenants farmed on the shares or paid cash rent, and invariably these remained longer than the tenants who worked for a daily wage.

A few of these farm tenants moved so frequently, for obvious reasons, that the story was told that their chickens knew when moving time arrived, and would drop to the ground and cross their legs

NEWS VIEWS

BY RAY BRANDENBURG

On February 14, we left home 1:30 a. m. Snow on ground, temp approx. 30 degrees. Drove to Port Columbus. Left on Eastern Air Lines at 10:15 a. m. for Miami. Wind sure cold. Flew non stop at 18,000 ft. to Miami, Florida in 4 hours. Had a 3 hour lay over in Miami, then took off for San Juan, Puerto Rico. Another 4 hour trip at 11,000 ft. Arrived at 9:30 p. m., on time, 10:30 San Juan time. Had two good chicken dinners on the way. Something over 2000 miles. Temperature at San Juan about 75 degrees to 80.

San Juan population 400,000. Population of Puerto Rico 2 1/2 million. Hotel very nice, also very expensive. Well it's mid-night. Got to get some shut eye and see the town tomorrow. Going swimming in the morning. Can almost jump in pool from room.

Friday, February 15: Took a fine swim, temperature 78 degrees. Never varies over 10 degrees the year round. We rented a car and started out to see the city. We visited the old part. Streets are very narrow. Spanish style houses and shops with the patios in the rear. Very congested. About noon practically every shop closes for an hour or so for the noon siesta, not a bad idea.

We went to a pretty decent looking restaurant for lunch. Found a man and his wife from New York had been operating it for three months and owned it. Food was fine.

They told us the building was three hundred years old. Ceilings were about 18 ft. high both downstairs and up. Rafters were mahogany. San Juan is surrounded by a high cement wall, built to protect the city. The wall is about thirty feet in height and 15 ft. thick with lookout towers at strategic points.

We visited the fortress of El Morro at the harbor entrance. It's a great wall with rooms, basement rooms, gun placements, etc. It was built over 300 years ago and still stands solid and sound. A great tribute to the fine craftsmen who built it. It was originally built by the Spaniards.

We did our touring today in a rented 1957 Chevrolet sedan and six full grown people weren't a bit crowded. And it surely drove nice and rode fine. Just like those Chevs you get at R. Brandenburg Motor Sales, Inc. They are tops any place in the world. Just come out and take a ride and convince yourself.

New Drainage Sewer Started

Project To Relieve Baker Addn. Problem

Work of building a new sewer to afford drainage relief to a large portion of the Baker Additions, south of Elm St., is now underway, under direction of Street Superintendent Clyde Smith.

The new 15-inch sewer is 410 feet in length. It takes the place of an eight-inch sewer into which a 12-inch sewer had emptied and which, as a result, was not functioning properly. Water had been collecting in basements during heavy rains.

The sewer is on High St., extending from Oak St. eastward.

The new sewer will eliminate a bottleneck caused by the larger sewer emptying into a smaller one, and also provide additional drainage facilities.

CITY MANAGER James F. Parkinson is also considering disconnecting the 15-inch sewer at Newberry St., and taking it directly to the intercepting sewer at Paint Creek, which would add still further to drainage relief in that part of the city.

At Newberry and High St., a 15-inch sewer and 12-inch sewer empty into a chamber with a 15-inch sewer outlet, and the turbulence caused by water from two sewers coming together greatly interferes with free flow.

By disconnecting the 15-inch sewer and taking it directly to the intercepting sewer, all interference with free drainage would be eliminated, it was pointed out.

Dads and Lads Have Big Time

More than 100 members of the Masonic Lodge here and their young guests today are still talking about the big time they had at the annual Dads and Lads Banquet at the Masonic Temple Friday evening.

This was another of the annual events that formerly were known as the Fathers and Sons Banquets; the name was changed this year, Worshipful Master Robert Denton explained, because frequently Masons brought, not only their sons, but grandsons and nephews and sometimes just young friends.

New Phone Pact

will center on the ability of local law agencies to maintain order while phone service is being restored.

O'Neill made it clear Sunday that there will have to be "the maintenance and re-establishment of law and order."

"If it is determined that the local officials cannot or will not afford full protection to persons and property required for the immediate restoration of telephone service, I shall then order the Ohio National Guard into the affected area to give such protection," the governor said.

One unit of the Guard was sent to the struck area over the weekend. O'Neill sent a mobile unit to Portsmouth to maintain emergency communications Saturday.

The Guard unit was joined by all available State Highway Patrol cars which were used to set up emergency radio communications for hospitals, fire departments and police agencies.

Today, O'Neill called for full restoration of work crews repairing slashed cables.

THE GOVERNOR'S request for local authorities in Scioto County to guard repair crews came at a conference in his office. Attending were some 30 state officials, and Portsmouth and Scioto County authorities.

He said elements of the highway patrol and the national guard would remain on the alert in the Portsmouth area to provide emergency communications until telephone service is restored, possibly within the next day or two.

The governor told those at the conference: "The purpose is to expedite the restoration of telephone service in the Portsmouth and Scioto County area and to be certain that the public health, safety and welfare of the people are adequately protected."

"I am particularly concerned about the sick and infirm, about the police and fire protection which the community needs."

"Therefore, I am asking Col. George Mingle (highway patrol superintendent) to keep elements of the patrol in the area."

"I have asked to company to immediately begin restoration of service in the county... that will entail repair of cables which have been damaged."

"I am asking union leadership for cooperation."

New Drainage Sewer Started

Project To Relieve Baker Addn. Problem

Work of building a new sewer to afford drainage relief to a large portion of the Baker Additions, south of Elm St., is now underway, under direction of Street Superintendent Clyde Smith.

The new 15-inch sewer is 410 feet in length. It takes the place of an eight-inch sewer into which a 12-inch sewer had emptied and which, as a result, was not functioning properly. Water had been collecting in basements during heavy rains.

The sewer is on High St., extending from Oak St. eastward. The new sewer will eliminate a bottleneck caused by the larger sewer emptying into a smaller one, and also provide additional drainage facilities.

CITY MANAGER James F. Parkinson is also considering disconnecting the 15-inch sewer at Newberry St., and taking it directly to the intercepting sewer at Paint Creek, which would add still further to drainage relief in that part of the city.

At Newberry and High St., a 15-inch sewer and 12-inch sewer empty into a chamber with a 15-inch sewer outlet, and the turbulence caused by water from two sewers coming together greatly interferes with free flow.

By disconnecting the 15-inch sewer and taking it directly to the intercepting sewer, all interference with free drainage would be eliminated, it was pointed out.
